Black Knot

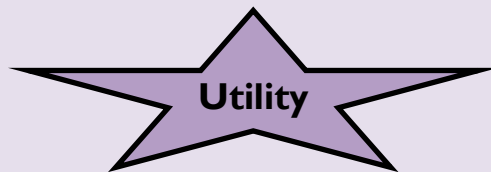

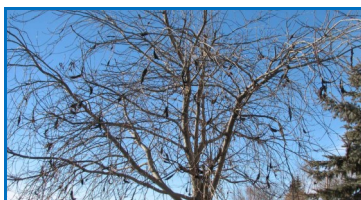

Even though [black knot] is endemic in the environment, it won't necessarily cause the death of the tree if the trees are managed properly to remove the infected branches.

To mitigate the affects of black knot, residents are urged to monitor trees on their own property.

If black knot is found, experts advise to remove the branches six to eight inches below the affected area. And always disinfect pruning tools between cuts, to avoid spreading the disease.

Infected branches should either buried, burned or disposed of in a landfill.

The Town of Daysland is moving forward with a process to email Utility Bills.
